

---

NCOMA Phrase Brainstorm

A working pool of language across nine topics. Cross out what doesn't work. Circle what does.

|              |               |          |         |              |               |
|--------------|---------------|----------|---------|--------------|---------------|
| TAGLINE      | ELEVATOR LINE | MISSION  | KEYNOTE | OPERATOR ROI | CERTIFICATION |
| FOOD QUALITY | SOCIAL        | CONSUMER |         |              |               |

Certified Kitchens.
Cleaner Oil.
Better Food.

The Standard
 American Kitchens
*Have Been Missing.

Know Your Oil.
Protect Your Kitchen.

Managed Oil.
Better Food.
Proven Standard.

NCOMA is the first industry-built certification that gives American restaurant operators a real, science-based standard for managing the oil in their fryers — because right now, there isn't one.

We built the standard the industry never had — and trained the people to use it.

Most American kitchens have no standard for frying oil. *NCOMA changes that.

The National Cooking Oil Management Association exists to establish what no federal regulation currently requires: a rigorous, knowledge-based standard for how cooking oil is selected, managed, tested, and replaced in American commercial kitchens.

We believe that better-managed oil means better food, safer kitchens, and stronger margins for the operators who feed this country. The NCOMA Certified Oil Manager designation is how we get there — one kitchen at a time.

NCOMA was built by the people who have been inside America's fryers for decades — not by regulators, not by academics, but by the industry itself. Our mission is simple: raise the standard of oil management in every commercial kitchen in this country.

"Right now, in most American restaurants, nobody knows when to change the oil. Not because the staff don't care. Because there's no standard that tells them. No federal threshold. No certification. No number on the wall.

We built one."

"The oil in your fryer is the most used, least managed ingredient in your kitchen.

We're here to change that."

05 OPERATOR ROI

Sell sheet · Proposal · Distributor pitch to restaurant GMs

Science in the Fryer.
Savings on the Bottom Line.

Stop Guessing.
Start Managing.

Managed Oil.
Better Margins.

Every Cycle Counts.

Most restaurants change their frying oil on a schedule — every two days, every three days, whatever someone decided years ago. That means discarding oil that still has cycles left, or worse, serving food in oil that's already past the safe threshold. NCOMA-certified operators know the difference. They test. They manage. They extend oil life by 20–40% without compromising food quality — and they can prove it.

06 CERTIFICATION LANGUAGE

COM diploma · Exam intro · Credential framing

Certified Oil Manager

This designation certifies mastery of the science, management, and testing practices that define professional cooking oil stewardship.

The COM exam measures what matters: not just what you know about oil, but whether you can manage it to a professional standard.

Earn the cert.
Own the standard.

The credential that proves you manage oil — not just cook with it.

What you fry in is what you serve.

The oil is an ingredient.
Manage it like one.

Bad oil doesn't announce itself.
It shows up on the plate.

Managed at the source.
Tasted at the table.

Your food is only as good as the oil it's cooked in.

Great frying starts
before the food hits the oil.

08 SOCIAL &amp; SHORT-FORM

LinkedIn · Instagram · Email subject lines · Pull quotes

There is no federal LINKEDIN standard for when to change frying oil in an American restaurant.
We're fixing that.

Every cycle counts. INSTAGRAM
Manage yours.

Your oil is costing you EMAIL SUBJECT more than you think.

"What you fry in is what PULL QUOTE you serve."

The fryer is the most LINKEDIN used station in the kitchen. It's also the least managed. That ends with NCOMA.

When did you last test EMAIL SUBJECT your oil?

09 CONSUMER-FACING

Menu badge · Window sticker · Table tent · Diner copy

NCOMA Certified.
Our oil is managed to a standard.

We test our oil.
So you don't have to wonder.

Clean oil.
Trusted kitchen.
Better food.

This kitchen is NCOMA-certified, which means our team is trained to test, monitor, and manage the quality of our frying oil — not just change it on a schedule. Cleaner oil means better-tasting food. That's the standard we hold ourselves to.